

A Remodeled and extensive expansion of "ING Barings", a Netherlands based bank is being done to reflect the success and professionalism of the company. Located in Bangkok, ING Barings occupies the 7th and 8th floor of Sinthorn Tower. The 7th floor contains an area of 450 sq.m. that has been formed into a series of executive offices, a conference room, and an open-plan working area. Much of the aesthetic is focused on the utilization of natural light. An enhanced selection of furniture is used to improve workflow and to maximize the storage area. The 8th floor on the other hand is 900 sq.m., and has been remodeled to meet the requirements of new facilities. The designer's task is to utilize the old space following the existing design characteristics and to create an overall effect of a dynamic and vibrant workspace.

The designer's task is to utilize the old space following the existing design characteristics...

INTERIOR